'Beat it' Michael tells critics

Popstar Michael with his Bride-To-Be.

A CERTAIN singing superstar held a press conference recently to hit back at those who were spreading rumours that the pressures of fame have driven him nuts. There is no truth in these smears, and anyone who says differently is an absolute honk tweebe banana wombat nugga-nugga," said Michael, before announcing his surprise engagement to his manager's hat-stand.

Dustin Hoffman with some of the cast.

Peachy-keen actor

Dustin Hoffman, who played a women in the film 'Tulse', is taking his remarkable acting career even further by playing the lead in the follow-up. 'For the dedicated actor, who has had his legs shaved off for the role, said: 'It's a plum part, and I'm free to really get under the skin of the character.'

Jolly Roger...

Roger Boar, star of the 'James Bond' films, is tired of being type-cast, so he's volunteered to play the part of Long John Silver in a remake of 'Treasure Island'. The part he's playing is the pirate's false leg. This should prove that my acting isn't wooden," cracked Roger.

Hamadina

Sean free

Porky pop-star Hamadonna denies that she is a 'porky' or 'porky' in the follow-up. 'I got rid of 120lbs. of ugly fat recently,' she told me, 'I kicked my husband out of the house.'

Manning: Ate Shetland

Porky-pop comedian Manning has gone on a diet. When I met him in his favourite restaurant, he said: 'I'm very hard. I feel like I could eat a horse, but I'm trying to cut down.' And he did - he ordered a small Shetland Pony and left the horses. Well done, Boarnard!

PS

Suova, debonair Nigel Hampster, witty pig-about-town, has got the chop from his job as a gossip-columnist with best-selling magazine 'Oink!', after Uncle Pigg found out that Nigel makes up all the 'facts' in his column, and the most famous person he knows is himself.

Royers are dreadful famous people. If one of them forls off a horse or gets hickups it is big news in all the papers. Royers rowstle do silly things lyke play polce (a gayse named after a mint, which prooves how stycoid it is). Good job, too, 'coz if they did anything important, lyke discovering a cyconer for swetty amptis, we'd never hear the end of it!

Pollytishens

Every few years, grown-ups vote for hoo they would lyke to get sent to 'Parlyment', which is a kynd of lunny-bin wheere 'pollytishens' get locked up and left to shewt at each other. This is called 'democrassey', and we shud be verrile grateful for it, as it keeps these stryngey people off the streets.

TV Sports Stars

If you can throw darts without forling over, tell the difference between red and wite ancker balls, or playe Crownse Game Bowls without dying of boardness, you can become a TV Sports Star. This is a grate improvement over the old days, when you had to be fit or skillfull to be a famous sportsperson.

Yes! It's true! Now YOU TOO can become a famous star! With the Instant Fame Celebrity Scrapbook, your days of being an obscure nonentity are over. All you need to transform yourself into a glittering showbiz personality are a few photographs of yourself, a pair of scissors, a pen, and a pot of glue. Just stick your face into the spaces on the pictures below, and fill your name in on the dotted lines. It's so simple even Gary Davies could do it (though - come to think of it - nothing's that simple). Then, simply tear out the page and leave it casually around the house. Your friends and relatives will be green with envy. They will never guess that you are not a famous celebrity VIP!

RECORD REVIEW by Tim Rice-Pudding

"Singalonga
Mailorder $345/CD", on GBH

There can only be one word to describe the new album by _____ and that is brilliant.

I always suspected, even when was a simple banjo player with Fleetwood Big Mac in the early 70's that it was only a matter of time before such an obviously vast talent created a truly great record. And here it is!

This brilliant megastar has written, played and produced all the songs on this fantastic album. I read on the sleeve notes that Paul McCartney was brought in at one point to un-block the toilet in the studio.

Your health could be a problem this year, Nobby. If you suffer from constant ringing in the ears, I'd advise you to take that stupid hat off!

Something is gnawing at your mind, so get your head checked for woodworm. Beware of an offer of employment in a TV series - there could be strings attached, and you may find yourself cut off and unable to stand up for yourself.
